

Social media policy

Social media is websites and apps where you can post and share information.

For example, Facebook, Twitter and Instagram.

All Wales People First uses social media.

The Chief Executive decides who can use the All Wales People First social media.

If you post as All Wales People First you must never:

- express personal political opinions.

- post photos of someone without their permission

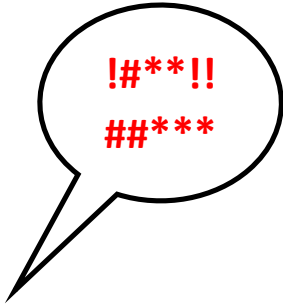

- use a live video without permission from everyone

- treat it as a personal social media account

- link to or share posts that discriminate against anyone

- be rude or treat people unfairly

- give the log-in details to anyone else

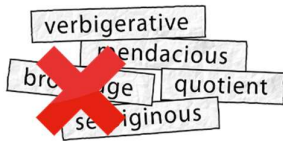

- You must not use the AWPf messenger account for your personal communication.

If you post as All Wales People First, you must always:

- only post real facts

- keep things short. No big words.

- ask permission before posting anything about other people

- block people if they are abusive

- think twice before posting anything

Work and personal

You may have an account you only use for work.

If you do this, all the rules in this policy apply to your work account

You may have a personal account.

You must not put confidential work information on your personal account

If something goes wrong

Speak up if you think someone in All Wales People First is misusing social media.

Check the Different Roles policy if you are not sure who to tell.
